

NetDirector e-Trade Pro vs. Bespoke Solution

Fast Start

e-Trade Pro enables the user to setup and start doing business within minutes. Bespoke solutions require much more time to launch.

Stability

e-Trade Pro is a stable and robust platform that has been tested over years by thousands of users. A bespoke solution will take a great deal of precious resource to test and debug...a great deal indeed!

Feature-Rich

e-Trade Pro is massively feature-rich due to the fact it has to satisfy thousands of users with varying business demands. A bespoke solution should fit a specific business, only problem being, businesses change continuously, meaning the bespoke solution has to change continuously.

Continually Updated

As well as being rich in features, e-Trade Pro is continually updated in line with all its users' requirements. This means whilst e-Trade Pro may not do 100% of what you want right now, chances are it will do in the future.

Continually Enhanced

e-Trade Pro has thousands of users submitting requests and ideas for enhancements which can be incorporated for the benefit of all users in future releases. Bespoke solutions have only a limited input.

Well Supported

e-Trade Pro is supported by a whole team of designers and developers with intricate knowledge of the software. Bespoke solutions tend to be understood by very few, and are prone to support issues if staff leave your development company.

Cost-Effective

e-Trade Pro costs very little in comparison to a bespoke solution. You use it so long as it is useful to you. A bespoke solution will cost a great deal more, tie you in to longer payment terms for development that is not proven and will never offer the flexibility available from e-Trade Pro.

Trusted

Software, such as e-Trade Pro requires a development company like G-Forces to invest time and effort in to. This ensures that a company that can produce a piece of software has commitment, stability and support necessary to deliver on its promises.
